dear Padre

October 18, 2009

Must we lend money?

My daughter is $30,000 in debt. On her last payday, a friend asked to borrow $600 for his house payment. My daughter lent him the money because she heard a reading in church that if you have money and your friend needs it, you should lend it. Is that what Jesus would have my daughter do in her current situation?

Ellen

Dear Ellen,

If your daughter had $600 she didn't need immediately and was quite sure her friend would pay it back in a timely fashion, then yes, it was good for your daughter to have lent the money in that situation. It's a sign of your daughter's generosity and kindness. But there are a lot of "ifs" in the above scenario. If someone had lent that money to your daughter and, because she then lent it to her friend, the lender was denied her payment in a timely fashion; your daughter shouldn't have lent the money. Putting the question in simpler terms, if I have two chickens and I need only one for supper and someone asks for something to eat, I should give him the extra chicken. But I needn't give away all that I have to feed the hungry, thus becoming hungry myself, so if I have only one chicken I don't have to give it away. We're always called to be generous, but not at the expense of our own well-being. Lending money is a different issue because it seems everyone owes money. People have mortgages on their homes, loans on their cars, and debt on their credit cards. If your daughter is paying her debts in a timely fashion, she's not obligated to pay more, and she can continue to be generous.

ADORATION

Before I converted to the Catholic faith 23 years ago, I knew somehow that God was truly present in the Church. After work, I would go to the church and sit in front of the Tabernacle in silence for an hour or so and communicate in silence, just opening myself to Him. I cannot possibly explain the changes that took place in my life...He holds my life together. I made a commitment to God that I would spend one hour in adoration for each hour that he hung on the cross and I have! I do not only believe, but know, that Jesus Christ is present in the Eucharist. If you come and spend a few moments with Him. Your life will change.
